What We're Learning!

In reading, we have finished our unit on poetry and began close reading short text in different genres. We have been working on pulling relevant evidence from the text and incorporating it into our responses to enhance our reasoning. This is also a useful time to work on organization and fluency of their responses. In writing, students are ending their work on their poetry anthologies. They will be displayed in the classroom before being brought home. After poetry, we will begin working on opinion writing. In math, we have continued our work on measurement. We have been learning about metric measurements as well as area and perimeter. We will continue to study measurement with graphs and charts. In social studies, students are working on crating a Glog that reflects their country.

Teacher Tip!

Spring fever is upon us! As we reach the warmer weather, it reminds us of what is to come.. summer! Please remind your child to continue to show great effort as we reach the end of the year. We have a lot of rigorous learning to do.

Change can also bring up anxious feelings. Spend time at home talking through any social interruptions so that you child is ready to learn when he/she comes to school. Have your child practice their Second Steps and C.A.R.E.S. skills with you.
