

75 Independent Reading Log

Tell me your thoughts about this week's reading and/or your book. Neatness counts!

This week I read
Ark Angel by Anthony
Horowitz and The Scorch Trials by James Dashner.
In Ark Angel, it was a very exciting ending for a great book. It ended with Alex safely getting back to earth and he saved the world.
In The Scorch Trials,
the book started off very fast with the gladiators waking up to a mob of angry people that they call "cranks".
I can't wait to read more into this book.

Tell me your thoughts about this week's reading and/or your book.
Jeatness counts!

This week I finished the Twilight saga by Stephanie Meyer. These books were really good because I ~~to~~ felt like I could really connect with all of the characters.
I feel like I know Bella better than some of my friends. This really made the experience of reading these books even better because I really wanted Bella to succeed.
For example in Twilight when James is tracking her I didn't want her to get hurt because I felt like she were my friend instead of a character. I just really cared about what happened to her.